

Your Legacy

When our kids turn 18, they enter adulthood and may not look to us in the same way as they did when they were children. With this in mind...

What is one thing you hope they remember?

How do you think they will describe you to their friends?

What is something you hope they don't say about you?

What are you doing today to ensure this comes to pass?

Repurposed from John Badalament's Modern Dad's Dilemma
